I am an over the road truck driver and i feel that if a radio company weather it be through a satalite, am, or fm i would listen to the station that can give the most accuret information about traffic and weather so i can look for a way around major delays so that i can get to my pick up or delivery points with as little delay as possible and if satalite radio can give us accuret traffic and weather more then two hours befor i am sitting in a traffic jam wasting fuel if they can not do it accuretly i will be just as willing to turn on the am or fm radio .i guess what i am trying to say is that if the local radio station see it as the only way they can get pepole to listen to there station is that the have to get in to there town or city and sit in rush hour traffic wasting fuel (and just look at the price of gas now) i feel that xm radio can actualy help in the saveing of fuel by getting people the accuret information sooner then fm and am station i am also planning on getting my ham license soon but if you guys try to stop xm radio i will not even try for that licence because you guys are doing alot of double talk because you guys are suppose to be infavor of new and improved use if the radio waves
